Opportunity

Be the architect of your health trajectory by taking a deep dive into your current health and assessing your risks with next generation technologies. We offer personalized and actionable health insights that empower you to be proactive in your health.

Rationale

The majority of age-related diseases do not present with obvious symptoms and can remain undetected with current conventional testing for years. Detect these diseases before symptoms occur so you have a head-start on potentially reversing the progression of disease. Course correct if needed while striving for peak performance and optimal health.

How it works

The Precision Health Program offers a next generation model of health assessment: personalized, predictive, preventative and proactive. It is a comprehensive strategic health roadmap to help you achieve your short and long-term health goals by identifying your specific risk factors through baseline testing, advanced molecular biomarker testing, micronutrient analysis and diagnostic imaging.

Screening MRI

We have partnered to provide you with the most advanced screening MRI currently available anywhere in order to provide you with the best assessment and screening and without any risk from radiation. This allows for detection of early stage abnormalities, when they are most amenable to treatment.

Biomarkers

We analyze the most diverse range of blood biomarkers to show your health risks today and what you can do about it. Your health is more than your genetics. Our preventive health assessments analyze your metabolites, proteins, nutrients and toxins to give you the full picture.

Report

We carefully integrate your results to assemble your 'Precision Health Report' to focus on disease detection including cancer, cardiac disease, metabolic disorders and neurodegenerative conditions. You will also learn about genetic predispositions, health risks, potential drug reactions as well as recommendations around nutrition, exercise and supplements.
